SUNDAY QUARREL BRINGS ON FIGHT AMONG THREE MEN

George Jones Was Seriously Wounded With Blunt Instrument on Head.

Finley Climber Charged With Assaulting Him.

BOTH MEN DRINKING HEAVILY

In a quarrel yesterday afternoon, Finley Climber, a young man who recently came from Paris, Tenn., is alleged to have struck George Jones, 1011 Jackson street, over the head with a heavy scuffling. After the fight Climber escaped, but last night was arrested by the police while he was in the Baptist church in Mechanicsburg. By the blow Jones was knocked unconscious, and is in a serious condition.

George Jones, his brother and Finley Climber had been together all Sunday witnesses say. They were in a lumber yard near the Franklin school, on South Sixth street, with a plentiful supply of booze, and the trio had been drunk all day. It is alleged, in the afternoon about 4 o'clock the three staggered out on Sixth street.

Over certain remarks warm words passed between Climber and Jones. Climber alleges that Jones hit him in the face, and he then picked up a heavy timber and struck Jones across the head. Patrolman H. Doyle lives near the scene, and he went to Jones' aid, but Climber had skipped out. The patrol wagon was called and Jones was taken home, where doctors were called to dress his wound.

Climber was bleeding freely and after the fight he went to the office of Dr. J. T. Troutman and told him he had nearly killed a fellow on Sixth street and told him to go over. After that Climber disappeared and the police could not find him. Last night Patrolman Dugan, who works the beat in day, got a clew, and with Patrolman Elch located Climber in the church and arrested him. Climber was sleeping off his jag when arrested. A warrant for malicious assault and wounding with intent to kill was sworn out against Climber. He was unable to give bond and his trial was continued in police court this morning owing to Jones' being unable to attend court.

Last year about this time Jones was seriously cut in a fight, but recovered from his wounds.

Physicians have been unable to determine how serious the injury is owing to the intoxicated condition of Jones.

After a thorough examination, Dr. J. R. Acree announced this afternoon that Jones' skull was fractured. It is believed to be a serious fracture, but it is thought that his chances are good for recovery.

Sidewalks Clear

Broadway bears an unusually neat appearance today with the sidewalks clear from the property line to the curbing. Displays extending over the sidewalk in front of a merchant's business house are prohibited. Heretofore the merchants have been permitted to utilize two feet of the sidewalk for displays, but this is not legal.

Edwin Bradshaw

Mr. Edward Bradshaw, 96 years old, of Heath, died last evening at 7 o'clock of old age. The funeral was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bayou church on the Woodville road. The funeral services were by the pastor, the Rev. McGee. The burial was at the church cemetery. Mr. Bradshaw was a prominent and prosperous farmer of the Heath neighborhood. He is survived by a large number of relatives and friends. Miss Orrie Clark, Mrs. Fannie Rowland and Mrs. Fannie Carnell are nieces. Messrs. E. R. Will, James and Richard are nephews of Mr. Edward Bradshaw.

Hard to Get Jury

Flushing, N. Y., Dec. 14.—The trial of Thornton Haines, accessory to the murder of Annis, has begun. His father and Major Haines, his brother, are attending. John McIntyre is chief counsel. Darrin is conducting the prosecution. Hundreds of spectators gathered but few gained access because the court room is small. The morning session was devoted to hearing the excuses of talesmen. The selection of a jury began this afternoon. Little progress was made despite attempts of Justice Crane to hurry proceedings. Although 293 talesmen were summoned it is believed others will be required to get a jury.

All Members of Colored Regiment Who Give Evidence in Brownsville Raid Should be Restored to Army

President Roosevelt Sends Special Message to Senate Conveying the Report on Brownsville Case.

Washington, Dec. 14.—President Roosevelt sent a special message to the senate on the Brownsville investigation. He declares the investigation shows that practically all of Company B was involved. Practically all of Companies C and D had knowledge of the affair, although they denied this on examination. He recommends that men who held back this information but later revealed the truth, be reinstated. He suggests a law, giving the secretary of war power within a year to reinstate the men he finds worthy.

The message includes the report of the investigation by Herbert Browne and Captain Baldwin. He cites the confession of Boyd Connors to an unknown detective, implicating three other soldiers.

"I include herewith a letter from the secretary of war transmitting a report of the investigation made by Mr. Herbert J. Browne, employed by the department in conjunction with Capt. W. G. Baldwin to investigate as far as possible what happened at Brownsville on the 13th and 14th of August, 1906. The report and documents contain some information of great value and some statements that are obviously worthless, but I submit them in their entirety.

This report enables us to fix with tolerable definiteness at least some of the criminals who took the lead in the murderous shooting of private citizens at Brownsville. It establishes clearly the fact that the colored soldiers did the shooting; but upon this point further record was unnecessary, as the fact that the colored soldiers did the shooting has already been established beyond all possibility of doubt. The investigation has not gone far enough to enable us to determine all the facts, and we will proceed with it; but it has gone far enough to determine with sufficient accuracy certain facts of enough importance to make it advisable that I place the report before you. It appears that almost all the members of Company B must have been actively concerned in the shooting, either to the extent of being participants or to the extent of virtually encouraging those who were participants. As to Companies C and D, there can be no question that practically every man in them must have had knowledge that the shooting was done by some of the soldiers of B Troop, and possibly by one or two others in one of the other troops. This concealment was itself a grave offense, which was greatly aggravated by their testifying before the senate committee that they were ignorant of what they must have known.

THOMAS H. CLAYTON IS APPOINTED TO COUNCIL BOARD--LICENSE ORDINANCE UP

Mayor James P. Smith today appointed Thomas H. Clayton, the well known roof contractor councilman from the First to succeed President J. R. Lindsey, resigned. Immediately after filling the vacancy Mayor Smith issued a call for the councilmen and aldermen to meet as a committee of the whole tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock to consider the license ordinance.

Copies of the ordinance have been in the hands of the mem-

Washington, Dec. 14.—Senator Dick introduced a resolution providing for suitable observance of Lincoln's hundredth birthday, February 12. He suggests celebrations in every town in the country; services at all colleges and schools, and also wants a worthy monument erected here.

known. Nevertheless, it is to be said in partial extenuation that they were probably cowed by threats, made by the more desperate of the men who had actually been engaged in the shooting, as to what would happen to any man who failed to protect the wrongdoers. Moreover, there are circumstances tending to show that these misguided men were encouraged by outsiders to persist in their course of concealment and denial. I feel, therefore, that the guilt of the men who, after the event, thus shielded the perpetrators of the wrong by refusing to tell the truth about them, though serious, was in part due to the unwise and improper attitude of others, and that some measure of allowance should be made for the misconduct. In other words, I believe we can afford to reinstate any of these men who now truthfully tell what has happened, give all the aid they can to fix the responsibility upon those who are really guilty, and show that they themselves had no guilty knowledge beforehand and were in no way implicated in the affair, save by having knowledge of it afterwards and failing and refusing to divulge it. Under the circumstances, and in view of the length of time they have been out of service, and their loss of the benefit that would have accrued to them by continuous long-time service, we can afford to treat the men who meet the requirements given above as having been sufficiently punished by the consequences they brought upon themselves when they rendered necessary the exercise of the disciplinary power. I recommend that a law be passed allowing the secretary of war within a fixed period of time, say a year, to reinstate any of these soldiers whom he, after careful examination, finds to have been innocent and whom he finds to have done all in his power to help bring to justice the guilty.

"Meanwhile the investigation will be continued. The results have made it obvious that only by carrying on the investigation as the war department has actually carried it on is there the slightest chance of bringing the offenders to justice or of separating the innocent from the guilty, for there were doubtless hardly any innocent, but the less guilty from those whose guilt was heinous.

HOLLAND SEIZES VENEZUELAN SHIP TO FORCE TERMS

It is Believed Aggressive Action Will Result in Castro's Overthrow.

Either He Will Submit or Suffer Revolution.

WATCHING FOR OTHER BOATS

Willemstad, Curacao, Dec. 14.—It is believed the capture of the Venezuelan coast guard ship Alix by the Dutch will speedily end the trouble with Holland. Dutch warships are watching for other vessels, prepared to completely paralyze Venezuela's commerce. This probably will cause sufficient pressure to make the Venezuelan government yield. If it does not, it is predicted a revolution will overthrow the administration.

Dutch Open Hostilities.
Willemstad, Curacao, Dec. 14.—The Dutch cruiser Gelderland on Saturday morning captured the Venezuelan coast guard ship Alix outside of Puerto Cabello. The Dutch flag was hoisted over the Alix, the crew of which was sent ashore. The guard ship was then manned by a Dutch officer and marines and towed to Willemstad, arriving here this morning.

Although the seizure of the Alix was plainly discernable from Puerto Cabello, the forts there did not fire upon the Gelderland.

There is great enthusiasm over the incident in Curacao.

The steamer Maracibo, which arrived here from Venezuelan ports, reports that when she was at Maracibo the air was full of rumors of a revolution in the interior of Venezuela.

Was According to Plans.
The seizure of the Alix was in accordance with the plans of the Holland government when instructions were issued to the three Dutch warships now in these waters to make a demonstration off the coast of Venezuela.

Naturally the people of Curacao who have long been clamoring for activity on the part of the Dutch government, are greatly rejoiced over this evidence that Holland has begun active measures against Venezuela, but the governor of Curacao, in explaining the incident, had this to say:

Not Unfriendly Act.
"The capture of our warships of coast guards and war vessels is not to be considered an unfriendly act against the Venezuelans. It is merely a reprisal against Castro's government. The seizure of these vessels will make it impossible for the Venezuelan government to carry troops or ammunition to and from various ports."

"A communication to this effect was forwarded by the Dutch government to the German minister at Caracas."

It is learned from the officers of the Gelderland that the battleship Jacob Van Heemskert and the cruiser Friesland are now off Lagunaira and further captures are expected. These vessels left here Friday, cleared for action, and it was believed then that the intention was to make a possible demonstration at Lagunaira.

The opinion is held here that the Venezuelan government in the absence of President Castro, won't fire upon the Dutch warships, which, in view of the fact that Venezuela is practically without a navy, hold the Venezuelan ports at their mercy.

Castro Goes to Cologne.

Paris, Dec. 14.—President Castro, of Venezuela, and party left for Cologne, where a consultation of physicians will be held to determine upon the advisability of an operation on the president.

During the stay here Castro kept closely confined to his hotel, refusing to give out any statement, except through some members of his suite. On the train, however, he accorded an interview to a representative of the Temps. The interview fully confirms the representations made by Castro at Santander to the effect that he was desirous of settling Venezuela's outstanding diplomatic differences and, so far as France is concerned, he already made the first steps in that direction. He said, however, that everything for the moment must be subordinated to the restoration of his health. He said that he might return to Paris.

While avoiding the direct question as to what he expected to do toward settling Venezuela's foreign affairs, pointing out that, as a "private citizen," he was not qualified to answer, he made it clear that the resumption of diplomatic relations with France depended entirely upon the settle-

Trial of Men Charged With Murder of Capt. Quentin Rankin Begins at Union City, Tennessee, This Week

Special Feniore of Three Hundred Summoned, from Which to Choose Jurors For Eight of Those Indicted.

Union City, Dec. 15.—The first trials of alleged night riders has begun. There are 134 men under indictment. Eight are on trial in connection with the murder of Quentin Rankin and the attack on R. Z. Taylor at Reelfoot lake. A special venire of 300 was called from which to select the jury. The prosecution asked the court to pick the jurors on account of the unusual features of the case. The defense objected. Hundreds of persons were attracted to the city. Guards over prisons were greatly strengthened.

John W. Gates' Mother Dies.
Port Arthur, Tex., Dec. 14.—Mary Gates, mother of John W. Gates, is dead. Her body was sent on a special train to Lake Charles, Ill., for burial. Gates is accompanying her. Mrs. Gates had been ill several weeks. Mr. Gates constantly attended her.

The Dutch Program.
The Hague, Dec. 14.—It is believed here Castro's visit to Germany is to urge the kaiser to intervene in his behalf. It is considered unlikely that the emperor will do so. The foreign office announced its Venezuelan campaign against Castro personally. It won't bombard towns, but hopes to bring Venezuela to time by stopping their commerce.

Mrs. Martha J. Hubert.
Mrs. Martha J. Hubert, 78 years old, died Saturday afternoon after a several days' illness of pneumonia at her home in Fulton county. Mrs. Hubert was born in Virginia September 21, 1830, and in early life moved with her parents to Fulton county. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Mollie Hubert More, eight grand children and two great-grandchildren. One of the granddaughters is Mrs. Wm. Elliott, of Paducah.

Mercer Funeral.
The funeral of Mr. William Mercer, who died suddenly Saturday, was held at the Broadway Methodist church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Instead of at the residence. Many of the shop employees attended the funeral, as he was a prominent member of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen. The Rev. G. T. Sullivan preached the funeral. At the burial at Oak Grove cemetery the Masons had charge of the ceremony.

FOR THE INAUGURATION.
Rear Admiral Speery Will Command Naval Section of Parade.

Washington, Dec. 14.—James Shenry, Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Press, has been appointed chairman of the press committee, and Charles H. Boynton, of New York, vice chairman of the committee on finance, for the inauguration of Taft as president on March 4 next year. Major General Barry, commanding the army of Cuba, next year, has been designated to command the regular army division of the inaugural parade and Rear Admiral Speery, commanding the Atlantic battleship fleet, now on its way home from the far east, will command the naval division.

Harriman Escapes

Washington, Dec. 14.—Harriman will escape answering questions before the interstate commerce commission in the investigation of the Union and Southern Pacific stock transactions. The supreme court held the commission cannot enforce answers. It overruled the New York district federal court which decided that Harriman must answer.

Civic Federation

New York, Dec. 14.—Mrs. Taft is chief speaker before the Woman's section of the convention of the National Civic federation. She urged women to assist in the fight to stop evils from "loan sharks" among industrial employers. Seth Low, John Mitchell and James O'Connell, president of the International Machinists' Union, addressed the federation. Mr. Mitchell urged the extension of trade agreements.

Concluding Castro twice repeated that Venezuela desired peace and harmony with France and the other powers, but declared that peace and harmony depended upon others as well as Venezuela.

DYNAMITE USED TO WRECK HALL OF FIRST WARD BALL

"Hinky Dink" Kenna's and "Bath House" John's Party Plans Rudely Shattered

Annual Event May be Interrupted With.

CHICAGO COLISEUM ATTACKED

Chicago, Dec. 14.—Two buildings were wrecked and several people are believed to have been killed and windows shattered for blocks around, by the terrific explosion of a bomb in an alley on Wabash avenue near Sixteenth street last night.

The wrecked buildings adjoin the coliseum, where the first ward ball, an annual event, against the holding of which this year much opposition has been made, is scheduled for tomorrow night, and the police are working on the theory that an unknown bomb thrower designed to wreck the Coliseum to stop the ball.

Building Catches Fire.
A two-story frame building, which adjoins the south wall of the Coliseum Annex, collapsed and took fire. The fire spread to another frame building, which was also wrecked. Properties of the Coliseum stored in the two buildings added fuel to the flames.

That the bomb was intended for the Coliseum and that it was an effort of some would-be reformer to make impossible the holding of the ball, the police express little doubt.

Another theory is that the bomb was thrown as another chapter in the "gamblers' war," which has been marked by the firing of a series of bombs, in the vicinity of alleged gambling resorts.

The first ward ball has long been a source of contention and recently the pastor of a church in the neighborhood sought and failed to secure an injunction to prevent the holding of the ball. The ball is supported by the "first warders," who are represented in the city council by Alderman Kenna and Alderman John Coughlan.

Escape is Caught

For giving a second whipping to Pearl Plant, Homer Burton, colored, was fined $30 and costs in police court this morning. Several weeks ago Burton and Pearl had a fight, and both were fined. Today Burton's time was up, but Saturday afternoon at supper, Burton slapped Pearl Plant several times and then dashed out the jail door as a trusty entered. Yesterday morning Jailer James Clark got a tip as to Burton's whereabouts, and he arrested him again. A warrant was sworn out for fighting in jail, and this morning Burton was soaked for a fine of $30, which will mean an additional 33 days' work on the chain gang.

Prisoner Takes "Leg Bail."

"Splitten" Hobbs, a negro well known to the police, tried to take "leg bail" this morning while he was being taken to jail. Detective Lige Cross arrested him for taking part in a crap game yesterday, but "Splitten" protested his innocence. He failed to make bond, and Patrol Driver Henry Seamon started to lock him up down stairs. Hobbs dashed down the steps, and down Fourth street to Broadway. He was a good runner, and the police were outdistanced. Hobbs turned in around the Central fire station, and ran into the alley in the rear, crouching behind some boxes. Fireman Charles McKinney spotted him and turned him over to Patrolman Carter. "Splitten" was locked in a cell and not given another chance to run.

Jamestown, Ky., Dec. 14.—(Special.)—To avoid a mob, Almer Hill was spirited from jail here last night and taken to Monticello. Hill was captured, charged with killing Mamie Womack last week. "THE KING OF DIAMONDS HAS LICENSE TAKEN AWAY."

Alleged Sogus Gem Man Ralls at Newspapers.

BURLINGTON, I.A., Nov. 14.—For some time past newspapers in Iowa cities have been reporting the operations of a man whom they called "The King of Diamonds." It appears that there was nothing criminal in his operations, which consisted in selling "sogus" diamonds, but his methods of procedure were not exactly according to the rules. He usually drops into a jobbing house and tells of meeting such and such a representative of the house on the road and selling him a diamond, to be delivered at the store. He explains that the diamond is only an imitation, and offers to sell anybody else around the place the same thing. Thus he works up an interest and usually succeeds in selling some of his glassware. Mr. Jack of Diamonds dropped into City Auditor Norton's office one morning and secured a license to sell his wares. He had only been out a short time, however, until Chief of Police Hiltz learned of him. Calling in the peddler, he relieved him of his license and gave him back the money he had paid for it. As the man had committed no crime he was released. He was better against the newspapers for injuring his business.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as strictly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

GEORGIA'S CREW IS VACCINATED

One Smallpox Case Has Broken Out on Board.

En Route From Manila the Atlantic Squadron Itides at Anchor in Harbor of Colombo, Ceylon.

DETACHED HER FROM FLEET

Colombo, Ceylon, Dec. 14.—The United States battleship fleet was anxiously awaited here by large crowds of natives, who assembled on the southwest coast, and a great gathering of Europeans and natives at Colombo.

The fleet, which was sighted at 7 o'clock this morning, approached slowly in single file. The flagship Connecticut, with Rear Admiral Sperry, commander of the fleet, aboard, entered the harbor at 9 o'clock, the others following at intervals. The warships saluted the fort and the salute was returned.

The battleship fleet left Manila December 1, and passed Singapore six days later. The voyage was uneventful, the weather being fine throughout and the battleships proceeding at an even speed of about ten knots an hour. The health of the men on the ships is excellent, with the exception of one case of smallpox on the Georgia, which detached herself from the fleet on December 9, and arrived here yesterday. All of the Georgia's crew have been vaccinated.

TOBACCO NEWS

Loose Leaf Sales.

About 50,000 pounds of tobacco was offered at Bohmer's loose leaf warehouse this morning and bids went as high as $8.75, which established a new record for the season by a quarter of a cent. Much of the tobacco offered was too high in order which prevented it bringing as much money as it would had the tobacco been put in proper order by the grower. No high grade tobacco was offered, even the $8.75 tobacco being of ordinary quality. The summary:

Tobacco Report.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 14.—The record prices at which tobacco has been selling, together with the rainy weather of the past two weeks, caused almost a flood of tobacco in the local market this week. Offerings were the largest of the season, and while prices were a little lower all around, they were nevertheless very satisfactory.

One of the features of trading on the local breaks this week was the very large amount of tobacco taken at private sale. One sale particularly, involving 1,046 hogheads of old burley and close to $200,000, was made to an independent manufacturer whose name is withheld for trade reasons. The American Tobacco company took at private sale 597 hogheads of new 1908 burley.

The Society of Equity has begun the active delivery of tobacco stored in local warehouses, which was in-

"I caught a severe cold which it seemed impossible to get rid of. I became much run down, lost my appetite and flesh and felt nervous and irritable. Vinol was recommended, and certainly worked wonders for me; it increased my appetite and cured my cough and nervousness. I consider Vinol a wonderful remedy." Mrs. W. T. Burns, Memphis, Tenn.

Many people are in just her condition—all run down, hardly able to drag about, don't know what ails them. This is probably caused by a cold or cough which is hard to cure, overwork or too close confinement to business, and such people need Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but contains the medicinal curative elements found in fresh cods' livers, with all the oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

We ask every run down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person in this place, and every person suffering from stubborn colds, hanging-on coughs or bronchitis, to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. W. B. McPherson, Paducah.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done a world more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c. at all druggists.

The campaign that this company is making for the prevention of accidents can be assisted in no greater measure than by the warnings that parents and teachers give to the children against "stealing rides."

The accident illustrated here would not happen if you would warn the children—if you could prevent them from courting DANGER by jumping on our cars. They do it for fun—OR DEATH.

The conductor is the man who knows. You will not find HIS children "stealing rides."

ELEVENTH HOLIDAY SEASON.

1908

J. L. WOLFF,
Founder of the Business.

The Record of Ten Years' Success

NOTHING could picture more graphically the success which has attended this business during the ten years of our residence in Paducah than the illustrations below. A success shown forcefully by our handsome quarters and magnificent displays—in vivid contrast to the modest room and limited stock with which we opened that day in February, 1898.

We are proud of the achievement and feel that it is due wholly to methods which won the good will and confidence of the public from the first. Our promises have always been fulfilled scrupulously; we stand behind everything we sell; our stock is equal to almost any demand and none but the competent find employment here.

At no season of the year is our supremacy in the jewelry trade of West Kentucky shown more strikingly than at Christmas time. Stock is larger and more varied; holiday novelties are shown in profusion and reasonably-priced gifts abound. Though you may already be familiar with the attractions of this establishment, we earnestly invite you to visit us during the holiday season and see the beautiful things we have prepared for your selection.

Ten Years Ago

TEN years ago, handling the business was a comparatively simple matter. Then, the proprietor himself bought and sold every piece of goods which passed through the store and made all necessary repairs with his own hands. Though the facilities for a large business were lacking, such as he had were handled faithfully and judiciously and with a single eye to the customers' interest and complete satisfaction, no matter small the transaction.

The inevitable consequence was GROWTH. He was bound to outgrow that little room which he rented. His first order to the manufacturer, though small, was for the best goods he could afford to buy and they came from the most dependable maker he knew—a method which has faithfully been followed ever since. And so we enjoy a patronage which extends into the three states of Kentucky, Illinois and Tennessee. Wolff's Jewelry Store is now one of the show places of Paducah, for, biding our time, we purchased a site and built. The original force of one has grown until, today, six people are employed, each an expert in his line. So you see we are fully prepared for an even greater Christmas rush than usual.

Now just one word regarding those Christmas purchases: While supreme effort has been put forth to make the 1908 display eclipse our most ambitious showing of the past, our stock is composed largely of exclusive designs—dainty, artistic pieces, many of them imported—and it will be impossible for us to replace them. Thus, the early shopper has an immense advantage and we urge you to avail yourself of the privilege of first choice. As a convenience to those who are unable to call during the day, our store will be kept open evenings until 9 for Christmas buying. This caution is especially directed to those who expect to select pieces which will require engraving. May we not have the pleasure of seeing you soon?

THIS advertisement is a plain, unvarnished boost for Paducah, the city. In ten years of our business life here Paducah has grown from a little city of 19,000 to its present population of nearly 30,000. We thank our friends for support which has been liberal enough to enable us to keep pace with the development of the city. It's a pleasure to be identified with the growth of such a live, enterprising community.

EIGHT departments are necessary to handle the present volume of business: Diamonds, Cut Glass, Watch Repairs, Engraving, Watches, Hand Painted China, Jewelry Repairs, Optical Department. Our showing of Diamonds is unexcelled in this end of the state, either in extent or fineness. The Watch stock today actually requires more display space than the old store could boast in its entirety.

Daily Thought.

Be wise today; 'tis meanness to defer.—Young.

Some people have expressed surprise that a blasphemer like the leader of the Holy Rollers was not struck dead at once; but Sharp's actions in court suggest that he is enjoying a little Hell on earth right now.

Wonder how the information that the president has proof of congressional wrongdoings leaked out of the white house, soon after a committee was appointed to propose action in regard to the president's message.

By buying a red cross stamp you may be contributing a little toward the saving of your own life or that of a loved one from dread tuberculosis. The whole world is engaging in the fight against the white plague.

Doctors might aid in this battle by obeying the law in regard to reporting cases of tuberculosis to the health department and fumigating premises.

Doctors tell us that tuberculosis is as contagious as smallpox, and yet they are the worst offenders.

One might think a good disposition is a thing to be ashamed of, to hear the "hot tempered" people boast of their own falling. Yet, to lose control of one's temper is self-evidence of a weak will, and a predominance of animal nature over the higher human attributes. It's rush of blood to the head, and the overwhelming of the reason by passion. No one ever gets mad without realizing he has been a fool for the moment. Unreasoning fury is characteristic of a wild beast, and the more angry one gets the more he resembles a beast, and the more degraded his nature becomes as the result. The more he gains in self-control, the more predominant becomes reason. Don't boast of the thing which distinguishes a wolf from a dog.

PEACE.

We are for peace. That is why we favor keeping a strong navy in both oceans, reorganizing the military establishment and strengthening the fortifications along the coast and in our eastern possessions. If we desired war for the love of it, we should advocate the disbanding of the army, the breaking up of the ships of the navy and the destruction of such antiquated fortifications as we have. We should have war then in a hurry.

Does anyone imagine there would have been war between China and Japan or between Russia and Japan,

if both sides had been equally prepared? Let those advocates of peace who deny all efforts toward defensive preparations, ask themselves why

Japan did not wait until Russia got ready to prepare for war before she struck. When two people or two nations with a misunderstanding are equally prepared for war, they usually arbitrate, or, at least, spar for an opening long enough for peace-makers to intervene.

Why do we maintain coast guards and land batteries, if they are not to ought to the highest state of

Why do we have a navy

it is not to be made ade

are they not both warlike

they are designed? Then if we are to have soldiers and forts and ships, let us have enough of them, and have them strong enough to be of service in an emergency.

Braggadocio about raising volunteer armies and navies after hostilities start, is all very well; but armies are not raised with the flourish of a magic wand and it requires years to build warships. This country has been worsted at the outset of every war but one she ever undertook, just on account of her unpreparedness; and in the Spanish war soldiers were needlessly murdered by hurry of preparation, graft and incompetency.

While we were spending years in building ships, the islands of the sea could be taken away from us and our coast defenses destroyed, and then any navy we could raise would be useless, because we wouldn't have a coaling station and supply depot off our own coast.

The disarmament propaganda is all right as a world wide movement, but we hope it will not simply react on this country to stupefy congress.

THE LICENSE ORDINANCE.

Tomorrow night the joint council will meet in committee of the whole and afterwards by boards to enact a license ordinance for next year. Some increases have been made, but it looks as if no licensees have been put to an excessive figure, or even so high as to be burdensome. Yet, no doubt, some will make violent protest against the schedules.

Now, this isn't a question of whether or not we should undertake extensive improvements this year. It is a question of whether or not Paducah shall go ahead paying interest on a big floating debt or whether Paducah shall wipe out that floating debt and thus cut down annual charges from which she is receiving, no benefit. There isn't enough money to run the city, and there hasn't been for several years. Paducah has been running behind financially, just as the schools have, and her streets have been gradually getting worse, and other public improvements sinking into decay.

The charge on most business men isn't going to be more than their proportionate share of the burden of maintaining the city government. The license tax isn't going to give Paducah all the improvements she needs; it will be only sufficient to keep the city from retrograding.

Cities all over the country this year in the face of the panic voted street and sewer construction in order to provide work for those thrown out of employment and keep them at home. The improvements were needed, but not urgent, but the citizens didn't wish their town to go backward in population and houses to be vacated, and they couldn't see any better way to keep going than to chip in a little each toward making their town better and paying wages to men, who would pay it back to them in rent and store accounts.

That is the way cities are made to grow, where they haven't the rivers and natural advantages Paducah enjoys. But there is no project of that kind involved in this measure—just what the business men in those other progressive towns are accused to putting up annually. The members of the general council should regard the interests of the city. It is the duty of the members of the general council to listen to citizens and when it is apparent that a citizen is talking in the interest of the city, that citizen's word should be weighed; but when it is apparent that a citizen does not care anything about the city's welfare, his argument should be disregarded.

SOME STORIES AROUND TOWN.

It is an old tale of the horse that had served years in turning a sorghum mill and when turned loose on pasture in old age went round and round as when in service. Chief James Wood and Captain John Slaughter have a new story to tell, but identical in principle. "Skeeter," the famous old horse of the fire department, was brought into the city several days ago for the winter. The horse is 27 years old and served for 12 years constantly in the fire department. Age told, and for the past three years the horse has been on the city farm doing light work. "Skeeter" was brought to the No. 3 fire station and for the novelty they put him in the regular horse stall. It has been three years since "Skeeter" was in a fire station, but when the firemen tapped the gong "Skeeter" ran out of the stall and under the harness like a young colt, jumping and exhibiting every indication of wanting to go to the fire.

News of Theatres

AT THE KENTUCKY.

Tuesday—Tim Murphy in "Cupid and the Dollar."

Thursday, Friday and Saturday—Dillingham Stock company.

Christmas (matinee and night)—"Brown of Harvard."

January 6—Dustin Farnum in "The Squaw Man."

Tim Murphy Tomorrow Night.

Tim Murphy will disclose one of the happiest roles he has ever had when he appears as David Stratton, the miner, in "Cupid and the Dollar" at the Kentucky Tuesday night. It is a romantic society comedy. Society is shown in all its conventionalities, in the drawing rooms of city mansions, with engravings by huge fireplaces, pillowed corners, flickering night-lights, etc. In this refreshing setting are found a group of romantic people, all agents of Cupid in his ceaseless generation of the great world-force—love. The story is exceptionally strong on its fundamental lines and the audience is held in suspense and given invigorating surprises at frequent intervals, but the gamessome of laughter is over all. The characters are all amusing, the lines are witty and the pictorial features, treat the eye to modish dressing and beautiful scenery.

Stock Company.

The Dillingham Stock company will open a three nights' engagement at the Kentucky theater on Thursday night in the four-act play, "A Cow Boy Captain." The cast is made up of actors who have been trained especially in this line of work, and they bring to it ability, enthusiasm and earnestness. During intermission high-class specialties will be introduced by eight vaudeville stars, making a complete dramatic and vaudeville show combined. On Tuesday night ladies will be admitted free on usual conditions.

"Brown of Harvard."

The stage settings for "Brown of Harvard," which the Shuberts present as a vehicle for Mr. James Young at the Kentucky, matinee and night, on December 25, go a great way toward producing the atmosphere for which the play is noted. The author, a Radcliffe graduate, was familiar with the environment of the great New England university long before she even contemplated play-writing and, during the active preparation of her play, returned to Cambridge in search of more particular details of local color. She was treated graciously by the administrative and athletic authorities and as a result has seized upon, for a background to her dramatic action, the three most typical scenes of college life.

Economy in the Kitchen.

Many dollars may be saved each month by ordering from the grocer only those articles that go the farthest and really have good food value for the money expended. For illustration, one package of "OUR-PIE" Preparation will make two large pies that are simply delicious and sure to please all who taste them. Nearly every grocer in the country sells these goods. Try a few packages and you will buy often. Lemon, chocolate and custard.

COLORED SCHOOL

WITH LARGE ENDOWMENT WILL BE OPENED SOON.

Professor Dinsmore, of Berea, interesting Colored People in Their Own Institution.

Prof. J. W. Dinsmore, dean of the normal department of Berea college, accompanied by two colored graduates of the institution, are in the city arousing the interest of the colored people in the proposed colored school, which will be opened in Kentucky soon. As soon as $56,000, of which $50,000 must come from Kentucky, have been raised, a fund of $400,000 for the colored school will become available, and half of this sum will be a perpetual endowment. The site of the new colored school will be selected probably in January, and February 12 President Roosevelt, who will be in the state to participate in the memorial at the Lincoln birthplace, will plant a tree on the ground of the new institution. Considerable rivalry has been stirred up among the towns and cities of western Kentucky as to which will send the largest contribution from the colored people. "Already more than $2,000 has been subscribed. Tonight there will be a meeting of colored people at Burk's chapel and tomorrow night at the Washington street Baptist church. Professor Dinsmore will address the colored people at these meetings.

The board of fire and police commissioners will meet tonight at the city hall in regular session, but the police and firemen will not be elected tonight. All of the application blanks are in, and it is thought that the board members may look over them tonight. It is said that the election will not be held until

The prince laughed. "You shan't make me afraid," he told her, "any more than Zerkovitch shall make me trust Colonel Stafantz. I can't say more than that." He turned to Sophy. "I think you'd better stay here till we see what's going to happen tonight, and our friends here will do the same. If all's quiet you can go home to sleep. If not, we can give you quarters—rough ones, I'm afraid." He rose from the table and went to a window. "The crowd's thinner. They've gone off to eat and drink. We shall have one quiet hour at all events."

An orderly entered and gave him a letter. He read it and said, "Tell General Stenoviev I will receive him here at 2 o'clock." When the messenger had gone he turned round toward the table. "A last appeal, I suppose! With all the old arguments! But the general has nothing to give in exchange for Mistitch. My price would be very high."

"No price! No price!" cried fiery Zerkovitch. "He raised his sword against you! He must die!"

"Yes; he must die." He turned to the window again. Sophy rose from the table and joined him there, looking over the city. Directly beneath the great gate, flanked on either side by broad, massive walls, which seemed to grow out of the waters of the river, he was aware of her movement, though he had not looked round at her. "I've brought you, too, into this trouble—yes, a stranger," he said.

"You don't think I'm sorry for that?"

"No, but it makes my impotence worse." He waved his arm toward the city. "There it is—here am I! And yet I'm powerless!"

Sophy followed his gesture and understood what was passing in his mind—the pang of the soldier without his armament, the workman without his tools. Their midnight talk flashed back into recollection. She remembered his bitter complaint. Under her breath and with a sigh she whispered, "If you had the big guns now!"

Low as the whisper was he heard it, and it seemed to shoot through his brain. He turned sharply round on her and gazed full into her eyes. So he stood a moment, then quickly turned to the table and sat down. Sophy followed, her gaze fixed on his face. Zerkovitch ceased writing. He had been drawing up another plan. Both he and Marie now watched the prince. Moments went by in silence.

At last the prince spoke—in a low voice, almost dreamy. "My guns for Mistitch! Mistitch against my guns! That would be a price—a fair price!"

The three sat silent. The Zerkovitch, too, had heard him talk of the guns. How on them hung the tranquility of the city and how on them might hang the country's honor and existence. Stenoviev could give them if he would in return for Mistitch, but to give up Mistitch was a great surrender. Sophy's whisper, almost involuntary, the voice of a regret, hardly even of a distant aspiration, had raised a problem of conduct, a question of high policy. The prince's brain was busy with it and his mind perplexed. Sophy sat watching him, not thinking now, but waiting, conscious only that by what seemed almost chance a new face had through her been put on the situation.

Suddenly Zerkovitch brought his slouched fist down on the table. "No!" he almost shouted. "They'll think you're afraid!"

"Yes, they'll think that, but not all of them. Stenoviev will know better, and Stafantz too. They'll know I do it not because I'm afraid, but in order that I never need be."

"Then Stenoviev won't give them!" cried Marie.

"I think he must give anything or everything for Mistitch." He rose and paced restlessly about the room. Sophy still followed him with her eyes, but she alone of the three offered no argument and made no suggestion. The prince stood still for a moment in deep thought. Then his face cleared. He came quickly up to Sophy, took her hand and kissed it.

"Thank you," he said. "I don't know how it will turn out for me. The case is too difficult for me to be able to foresee that. For me it may be mastery—I always thought it would mean that—or perhaps, somehow, it may turn to ruin." He pressed Sophy's hand now and smiled at her. She understood and returned his smile. "But the question isn't one of my interest. My duty is plain."

He walked quickly to his writing table and unlocked a drawer. He returned to the table with an envelope in his hand and sat down between Marie and Zerkovitch.

At the City Churches Sunday

"The Holy Spirit and Church Finances" was the subject of an interesting sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist church, by the pastor, the Rev. M. E. Dodd. In the past Dr. Dodd said he realized that he was treading on forbidden ground in many churches, but he considered it appropriate for the pastor to discuss matters pertaining to the advancement of the church. The sermon was one that denounced the methods of raising money for the benefit of churches by having bazaars, socials or sales or anything where value received was given for material articles, when the money would be used for church purposes. The kernel of the sermon was what was contributed to the church should be given voluntarily and cheerfully without hope of being remunerated with some article of commerce. Another point of the sermon was that the church bazaar or sale was run in competition with the regular business houses. A special collection was taken in the morning to free the church debt, a note for $300 being paid off.

"Saul," the story of a young man who went out to seek a drove of asses and found a kingdom, was the subject of Dr. D. C. Wright's Sunday night lecture at Grace Episcopal church. He graphically recited the life of Saul, the simple environments of his early days, the incident of his suddenly being thrust into the midst of a feast of great men as the guest of honor, his anointment and timidity; how he returned to the simple duties of farm life, until the Philistines again invaded Israel, and how he rallied his countrymen together with the token of the bloody ox and his resultant elevation to the throne. Dr. Wright drew a character sketch of the king. Saul was a religious fanatic, emotional but lacking moral restraint, and his ecstasy of devotion on occasions made his outdoing of the prophets a by-word in Israel. Dr. Wright then mentioned David's influence on Saul, the gradual decay of Saul's mind and his tragic death, followed by the dramatic rescue of his body from his enemy and the funeral of the dead king.

First Presbyterian.

"He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city."—Prov. xvi, 32.

This was the text of Dr. W. E. Cave's sermon yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church. Dr. Cave first showed how strong was this assertion of the wise king by recalling the names of mighty men who had taken cities, their deeds recorded in song and story and sculpture. Then he spoke of many of these same men, who had failed of true greatness; because, although they could conquer cities and lands, they could not conquer their own base desires and passions. Dr. Cave said this word spirit should not be limited to the spirit of anger; for the original meaning of the translated word was broad enough to comprehend every impulse of the human mind. He said if people would but think before they spoke and acted under the impulse of emotion the world's tragedies would be averted. Christ said: "Let him who would come after Me, deny himself, and take up his cross and follow Me."

Second Baptist.

There was a good attendance at each service at the Second Baptist church yesterday and the pastor preached two interesting sermons. One new member was added to the church at the night service.

Tenth Street.

A great deal of interest in church work is being aroused among the membership of the Tenth Street Christian church through the efforts of the new pastor, the Rev. C. E. Jackson. Besides the good attendance at church the enrollment at the Sunday school is steadily increasing new members being added each Sunday.

Cumberland Presbyterian.

Two good services were held at Cumberland Presbyterian church yesterday, large congregations were present both in the morning and evening. The pastor, Rev. D. W. Fooks, preached in the morning from the subject, "The Divine Discipline of Life." In the evening from the subject, "The Angel, the Way and the Place Prepared." There were three additions made to the church at the evening service, making a total of 15

XMAS GIFTS FOR MEN

Gifts for men sometimes seem the most difficult of all to select. But in at least 85 per cent of the instances they should be easiest of any. Come here and make it a box of good cigars—not the ordinary "Christmas gift" kind, but the sort he really enjoys smoking and buys for himself. It is likely we even know his favorite brand, for most of the discriminating smokers of Paducah buy their cigars here. Ours are kept in better condition and cost us more than most dealers think they can afford to pay.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Indigestion and the attendant discomforts of mind and body are certain to follow continued use of improper food.

Those who are still young and robust are likely to overlook the fact that, as dropping water will wear a stone away at last, so will the use of heavy, greasy, rich food, finally cause loss of appetite and indigestion.

Fortunately many are thoughtful enough to study themselves and note the principle of Cause and Effect in their daily food. A. N. Y. young woman writes her experience thus:

"Sometime ago I had a lot of trouble from indigestion, caused by too rich food. I got so I was unable to digest scarcely anything, and medicines seemed useless."

"A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food, praising it highly, and as a last resort, I tried it. I am thankful to say that Grape-Nuts not only relieved me of my trouble, but built me up and strengthened my digestive organs so that I can now eat anything I desire. But I stick to Grape-Nuts."

GOOD LIVING.

Good living does not consist so much of high priced and rich foods as of variety, the element which appeals to hungry appetites more forcibly than an unchanging run of food, however expensive.

Perfect meals are those which combine tastiness, variety, nourishment and economy. No one food so well embodies these essentials as Faust Brand Spaghetti. At the almost insignificant price of only five and ten cents a package, this great food is unusually appetizing, is as nourishing as meat, and, above all, lends itself to no end of cooking variety. All this means hearty meals, reduced food expense, happy cooks.

The range of Faust Brand Spaghetti is from soup to dessert. A way for every course. A new way for every day. It is equally good with or without meat. Being made in America from the best American durum wheat and put in sealed packages, it is one of the cleanest foods sold. As a cooking aid a book of useful recipes is placed in every package.

KAISER'S FINANCES LOW.

Castles at Benrath and Jagerschloss Are to Be Sold.

Berlin, Dec. 14.—It is reported that the private finances of the Kaiser are in a bad way. The stringency is so great that the imperial castles at Benrath and Jagerschloss, near Düsseldorf, are to be sold in the near future. The chief cause of the financial embarrassment is said to be the extravagance of the Kaiser in gratifying his artistic tastes and personal fads. It is said that millions have been squandered in this way, but affairs have reached such a stage that his expenditures have been reduced to a minimum in the past month or so.

Another influence almost as strong as the shortage of ready money in curbing the imperial extravagance has been the fear of further evidence of popular disapproval, such as was brought about in the debates in the reichstag on the famous Telegraph interview.

ARGENTINE TO GET NAVY.

Chamber Will Force Through Estimate for Armament.

Buenos Ayres, Dec. 14.—The senate has finally confirmed the report of the armaments commission, rejecting the vote of the chamber of deputies, which authorized the expenditure of $75,000,000 for increased armaments. The commission's report, as previously called, recommends a maximum expenditure over a period of six years of $33,000,000.

This action of the senate was expected and the measure will be immediately reintroduced in the chamber and in the terms of the constitution it will be given the force of law by a two-thirds majority, which is already assured. No loan will be issued or special tax imposed for the purpose of raising the money required. Payments will be effected from ordinary navy resources.

The budget now before congress shows a reduction in the national debt of about $45,000,000 since De-

BLOODY FINGER PRINTS A CLEW

New York Police Wrestle With Sensation.

Found Every Distinguishing Mark Had Been Removed By the Assassins.

BODY BARRICADED IN ROOM.

New York, Dec. 14.—A new shroud of mystery was thrown about the murder of a woman whose body was discovered in a flat at No. 337 East Eleventh street, when it was learned by the police that two men had made their abode in the same apartment, and each of whom so closely resembled the other that it is believed they were twins.

The question accordingly which has so far balked the detectives on the case is which brother committed the murder.

In their efforts to identify the slayer Capt. Carey and his men again made a searching investigation of the flat, which had been found in utter disorder at the time of the discovery of the body. The blood prints on the picture frames, out of which the murderer had torn photographs of the woman, were carried to police headquarters to be compared with records there. Copies of the flesh lines were also made for the detectives who are searching the resorts in Mulberry street, where the men companions of the unfortunate woman were said to have their rendezvous.

It is the belief of Lieut. Petronsoil, of the detective bureau, that one of the men last seen at the flat, had lured their victim on from California street to rob her of her jewels. Neighbors say that only a few days before her death she had exhibited diamonds and rings estimated to be worth $2,000.

"When the woman first moved in," said Mrs. Smiler, the janitor, "she

Aches and Pains

"No remedy that I have used has been so sure a cure for pain of every kind as Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are a sovereign remedy for pain." MRS. H. BRADEEN, Rapids, Maine.

Pains are in the nerves—all feeling is; headache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, rheumatic pains, backache, etc.—They're all there, but in different parts—It's nerve trouble.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills relieve the nerve irritation, and the pain subsides—that's all, no derangement of the stomach, no disagreeable after-effects. That's why they are so popular with those that use them. The first package will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

said that she and her husband had come to New York from Santa Clara, Cal. She only spoke to me of one man. Now I learn that there were two men who came and went, but they looked so much alike that they were mistaken for one man."

Woman Showed Jewelry.
The jewelry which the woman showed the janitress consisted of diamond earrings, a diamond brooch and several rings.

On finding a receipted bill for the purchase of jewelry from Breslavsky Brothers, in Malden Lane, the police endeavored to run down the identity of the victim with this clew. But the jewelry dealers could not recall who it was that had bought the gems. The receipt did not bear the name of the purchaser.

"Flora" was the name by which the woman was known in the neighborhood where she lived. Among others who viewed the remains was Dr. Bellontoul, of No. 371 Broome street. A bottle had been found in the flat bearing a label upon which was written the doctor's name, but the physician could not recall that he had ever seen the woman before.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says "Bucklen's Arnica Salve" cured the two worst sores I ever saw: one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c. at all druggists.

ARTIFICIALITY OF STOCK MARKET

Exposed and Manipulation is Shown.

Investors Look Askance at Prices Stocks Are Bringing on 'Change Now.

HENRY CLEWS' WEEKLY LETTER

New York, Dec. 14.—(Special.)—The artificial character of the stock market is no longer to be concealed. Manipulation has now controlled the movement of prices for many weeks, and at no time has it been so apparent as during the week just closed. In the effort to stimulate buying first one and then another of the second and third rate stocks were jerked up, but without any satisfactory results. These spasmodic movements seemed to accomplish little except to excite further opposition against the attempt to carry prices still higher at this time. Apparently the market has been bulled almost to a standstill.

Investors look askance at the prices which the best stocks are bringing, because they find no attractive offerings and seem inclined to await a reaction. New issues of importance are pending, and these if offered at suitable figures are receiving the investors' preference. Whether the January investment demand will be as brisk as usual or not remains to be seen. The amount of funds seeking investment will certainly be larger than a year ago, and may be larger than usual; but, if the disposition to postpone purchases continues as strong as at present, the market will lack this important element of support. Much will depend, of course, upon the development in business. Meanwhile the speculative buyer faces decidedly conflicting conditions. He recognizes that all natural influences are in favor of reaction, yet cannot ignore the fact that the market is still in the firm grip of the most powerful and resourceful manipulators the market has ever seen. These parties have held their sway ever since the panic and were chiefly responsible for the rise following Mr. Taft's election. They have been steadily feeding out stocks at every opportunity, and still seem determined and able to maintain the market at the present artificial level. The abundance and cheapness of money is a powerful aid to such purposes. In fact, present high prices are largely inflationary and the sequence of these sources of strength there is the backing of many of our leading bankers and financial institutions who are interested in the placement of numerous new issues. It is a necessary part of their policy to keep the market in condition favorable to the absorption of these issues, which will amount to many millions. So long as business continues to improve and no unfavorable developments occur, it is easy, therefore, to see why no reaction comes. While buyers are scarce, sellers are equally so, and the market would be threatened with stagnation were it not for the operations of the big professional traders, who have been the largest real buyers and are in some cases anxious to lighten their burden. No doubt activity would be promoted and the technical situation much improved by a decline of 5 to 10 points. This would bring in a new class of buyers, especially as the short interest is increasing, broaden the distribution of stocks and revive the investment demand. But until the present leaders step aside or unfavorable conditions develop, it is useless to anticipate any important break in prices. The investor can, of course, afford to wait for better opportunities, while the speculator will have to be satisfied with the quick turns and small profits which the activities of big traders may offer.

Opening of Congress.

The opening of congress, as expected, had little effect. This is a short session, and Mr. Roosevelt's valedictory excited less comment than usual, for the reason that his term of office shortly expires, and the carrying out of his policies will then depend upon a man of less aggressive and more judicial temperament. Congress and the will of the people will once more be the final authority in legislation and reform. Aside from tariff legislation, the present session of congress and the special session expected to follow will be comparatively free of discussion disturbing to financial interests. There has been a noticeable subsidence of indiscriminate hostility to railroad and other corporations, and fortunately a more sane treatment is to be expected from state legislatures and others in authority over great corporations. Tariff agitation may temporarily but not seriously unsettle business. Uncertainty will do more harm than any revision that is likely to be made. No doubt many of the schedules that are unreasonably high will be scaled down; but it can be taken for granted that no cuts will be made that will seriously threaten American industry; in fact, the reductions most likely to be enforced will be such as should be a positive stimulus to manufacturers. Tariff revision should cause no fear.

Foreign exchange rules very firm and conditions favor a renewal of gold exports. Europe has been returning our securities more freely than usual, and owing to the scarcity of commodity bills gold would have gone earlier had it not been for the approach of large remittances for January dividend and interest payments. The exchange situation is further complicated by new security issues, a fair proportion of which will find a market abroad; also by the manipulations of some of the principal drawers of exchange. The gold movement, therefore, is still involved in uncertainty, with prospects of larger shipments later on. Much of the gold recently sent has gone to Paris; the extraordinary accumulations of the Bank of France having given rise to much comment. Nothing is positively known of the reasons for this policy of that great institution; and as it cannot be explained by any known financial operations the inference is that France is quietly accumulating a great war fund merely as a protective measure against Germany. This of course is conjecture, and cannot in the nature of the case be proved. The local money market shows a slightly firmer tendency, which may grow as preparations for January disbursements—over $180,000,000—progress. After the middle of January, however, easy rates should again prevail. The undertone of business steadily improves, though the volume is not just now increasing. December is usually a period of quiet, especially in mercantile circles, where stock-taking and plans for the coming year often absorb attention. The year is now rapidly drawing to a close and is in most pleasing contrast to the situation twelve months ago. Then we were in the depths of despair and suffering from the consequences of disaster. Now the outlook is bright and a saner, more hopeful spirit prevails everywhere. Big strides have already been made on the road to recovery, and our chief danger is that of calling an extra session; that he did not know of an emergency that required it; that a law provides for the regular sessions to attend to the usual measures which are brought up for legislation and that it does not in the governor's opinion an extra session unless for an emergency, and the consideration of a question like the county unit bill is not in the governor's opinion an emergency, but is a question of a character that is usually and properly considered by the regular session.

Special Judge for Marshall.

Hon. John K. Hendrick has been appointed by Governor Willson to preside in all the cases that may come before the Marshall county circuit court at the term which begins today in which Judge Reed may be ineligible to serve by reason of his former interest as attorney or is otherwise connected with the case.

Coal Dealers at War.

The question of whether or not dealers who pay a license of $35 a year to retail coal shall have the privilege of sending out wagons to peddle fuel in small quantities will be settled in police court Wednesday. Coal peddlers who pay a license of $10 have begun prosecutions against regular dealers who pay license to retail large quantities and have also sent out peddlers claiming protection under their license.

NO EXTRA SESSION

Gov. Willson Does Not Think That Temperance Legislation Is Emergency at Present.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 14.—Governor Willson in a statement announced that he will not call a special session of the legislature to consider the county unit bill. He said he will not call the general assembly together on any subject of legislation generally considered by the general session, and would bring them together only for emergency matters. The governor said, "That somebody asked him every day, and sometimes several times a day, when he was going to call the extra session, and this question was prompted today by a publication that indicated that petitions are being gotten up asking the governor to call an extra session about the county unit bill."

RESCUE MISSION

SHOULD NOT BE FORGOTTEN BY THE CHARITABLE.

Christmas Cheer for Poor People Will Be Supplied Through That Agency.

A liberal offering from the general public, so that the Christmas tree this year given to the poor by the Union Rescue Mission may be large, is expected. The mission, in charge of the Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Chiles, is starting out this month on its eleventh year of success in Paducah. Each year the mission has shown great success over the previous year in making the hearts of the poor happier on Christmas and this year the mission is looking forward to the same advance in its good work. The object of the mission for the last ten years has been a relief home for the unfortunate poor and services are held every night, and every day there is kept a constant outlook for those in need, ministering aid to the sick, burying the dead, providing those who are unable to care for themselves with food and clothes. The mission conducts a free employment bureau for men, women and children and keeps an open reading room supplied with the very best of literature. Each year anywhere from 3,500 to 4,000 useful articles are given out, such as clothing, household goods, cooking articles and supplies. The mission is supported by the charitable Paducahans and the good people in the adjoining country and this year the mission is looking forward to a liberal offering so that it can carry out its good work with the poor.

SANTA CLAUS HERE

COMES IN ALL KINDS OF VEHICLES AND INTERESTS CHILDREN.

A Clever Window Design at Culley's Attracts a Great Deal of Attention.

The retail merchants are concentrating all their efforts to make this week and next the banner twelve days for holiday shopping. All the store decorations have now been made, the stocks are all out on display and the windows reflect the beauties of the interior.

Some of the handsomest displays to be seen are in the two windows at Culley's. In one window is one of the cleverest things yet seen. Santa Claus is to be seen in his sleigh driving his reindeer along a heavily laden snow road. He's pack is in the rear, full of gifts; the deer are in motion and by a clever mechanical arrangement the scenery moves, giving the semblance of the good, old saint traversing a country road. It is the work of Mr. Logan Boulware, who has many bits of clever work of this character to his credit, but he has never done anything better than this. Some of his artistic work is also to be seen in the other window at Culley's. The floor of the window has been removed, and a basement with which it is equipped utilized for a forest setting to display Christmas suggestions. Both windows today are attracting much attention.

Saturday was a big shopping day. Every store on Broadway reports a big day's business. Rudy and Ogilvie furnished excitement for probably a thousand children and grown people in the afternoon, Rudy with his visit from Santa, in an auto, and Ogilvie with the jolly old fellow in his airship. Today has been a very busy day, too, and every indication is for a great shopping season.

NIGHT RIDER SPEAKS.

Indicted Man Tells of the Early Raids.

Union City, Tenn., Dec. 14.—One of the alleged night riders, who has been indicted as a member of the band, made a full and complete confession; telling of his own complicity and also naming a number who have been considered above suspicion. Although the officials will give out nothing definite in regard to the confession, it is almost a certainty that it has to do with some of the earlier raids made by the band, beginning at the time the docks at Samburg were burned in April, and taking in the numerous raids made during the summer months. Nothing in regard to the murder of Capt. Rankin at Walnut Log was divulged by the man, although matters of utmost importance in regard to the identity of the first members of the band were told. A number of arrests have been ordered on this testimony, and sensational developments are expected when the parties are taken into custody.
